General Motors e Landi Renzo partnership on hydrogen

Landi Renzo S.p.A. is proud to announce that it will be forming a strategic partnership with General Motors to work on production of hydrogen-fuelled automobiles.

The choice of GM recognizes both Landi Renzo know-how in the area of environmentally compatible mobility and the value of its research in the area of hydrogen fuel.

Landi Renzo will develop and industrially manufacture a mechatronic component which will serve primarily to supply the GM Fuel Cell with the required quantity of hydrogen.
